

Managing Performance Seminar

As a Federal supervisor, you're responsible for shouldering two important responsibilities: guiding your team to success and taking disciplinary action if the need arises. In this seminar, supervisors will explore key elements of effective performance management in the Federal workplace, while satisfying supervisory training requirements.

- Learn effective methods for improving employee productivity and encouraging high levels of performance.
- Know how to identify the personal styles, beliefs and practices that support or interfere with effective performance management.
- Understand the systemic and legal elements that support the use of disciplinary action and termination in the Federal Government.

Setting the Stage for High Performance and Responding to Unacceptable Performance

This seminar offers unmatched insight into the most effective techniques to improve communication with and motivation of employees to encourage optimal workplace performance. The seminar also helps supervisors recognize and avoid common pitfalls in discipline and termination situations.
